A SWEET JOURNEY With HALDIRAM'S

Over the last eight decades, a lot has changed—but our heart remains the same.

We've grown from a humble beginning to a household name. We've moved locations, expanded our offerings, introduced new product lines, opened stores across India, and stepped into international markets. Yet, through all this transformation, one thing has never changed—we're still a close-knit family business, dedicated to delivering the authentic taste of India.

Our journey began with a small namkeen shop in Bikaner, founded by Ganga Bishan Agarwal, fondly known as Haldiram Ji. His unique-tasting bhujia quickly captured the local palate, paving the way for an incredible legacy. This legacy was carried forward by his grandson, Mr. Shiv Kishan Agrawal, whose vision and determination propelled the brand to new heights.

In 1970, with a mission to take bhujia beyond Bikaner, he moved operations to Nagpur and set up our first full-scale production unit. From here, we introduced a diverse range of savouries, sweets, and beverages, which soon became staples in households across the country.

From the very start, Mr. Shiv Kishan Agrawal emphasized preserving tradition and quality, even as the company evolved. This commitment lives on—every recipe, every ingredient is chosen with care, maintaining the simplicity and homely touch that defines us. Our promise remains the same: natural, wholesome products with an unmistakably homemade feel.

But Haldiram's is more than just food. It's about people, community, and shared values. We continue to operate as a true family business, supporting our teams, nurturing connections, and serving generations of food lovers both in India and around the world.

After all, as the old saying goes, "The way to one's heart is through the stomach." We're here to win your hearts—one bite at a time.
